Seniors

CLASS WILL

We, the Seniors of 1956, being of sound mind and good health, do make this last will and testament.

To next year's Seniors we leave nothing since after our trip we will have nothing left except our integrity and we will need that in the years to come.

Lowell Algire wills his razor to Dale Harrison. Be careful, Dale.
Dorothy Atherton leaves her liking for history to Silvia Austin.
Patty Atherton gives the recipe for her cold remedy to Mrs. Morgan.
Phyllis Baker leaves her bashfulness to Bob Crill.
Judy Barr wills her driving ability to Louise Palmer.
Ernie Cochrane bequeaths his ability to open his mouth at the wrong time to Wayne Snyder.
Pat Craner gives her recipe for brick biscuits to the Home Ec. Dept.
Art Coon wills his way with the girls to Delmar Jordan.
Steve Creath gives his Saturday morning agricultural activities to Mr. Eversole for his garden.
George Dunn leaves his size twelve engineer's boots to Rosie Bennett.
Sandra Smith wills her bashfulness around boys to Dorothy Bemiller.
John Fout gives his Government book to any sucker that wants it.
Janice Freeman leaves her love for Bruce to no one.
Tom Gatton wills his motor scooter and a pint of gas to Sandra Robinson and he hopes that she will go see for a change.
Miriam Forbes gives her petiteness to Gary Meeks.
Sidney Hall bequeaths his shooting ability to anybody owning a 22.
Goldie Gregory leaves her pretty long, black hair to Jerry Miller.
Dave Hathaway gives his wandering cows to Lynn Beveridge.
Renald Hefflefinger leaves his tardiness to anyone who can take it.
Bonnie Hildenbrand wills her night life to Muriel Ramsey.
Dick Kuhn gives his Perrysville address book to Tom Spohn.
Chuck Leedy wills all the girls he hasn't met to himself.
Chuck Lifer bequeaths his shotgun to the first person who will take it.
Helen McFadon leaves her giggles to Ann Burge.
Gwyenna Ogier gives her rougish green eyes to Carol Wharton.
Marion Oyster wills his liking for hillbilly music to Steve Farst.
Glenn Pore gives his knowledge of the team's favorite parking places to Coach Beadle.
John Shaffer and Tom Llewellyn give their fights and arguments to anyone who can equal them.
LaDonna Wolf wills her football crown to next year's queen.
Shirley Wolfgang leaves her quietness to Anita Walters.
Linda Bookman gives her levis to Lillian Smith.
Bruce Larcomb wills his store teeth to next year's football team.
Cheryl Workman leaves her ability of keeping slim to Willie Maxwell.
Don Bratschie gives his smile to David Mosier.
Sandra Hollar wills nothing to nobody.
Perry Wharton bequeaths his crewcut to Marilyn Miller.
Grace Zimmerman leaves her freckles to Pat Oyster.

Sponsored by COCHRANS FLOWER SHOP & GREENHOUSE

As I sat down on a balmy afternoon in May of 1976 to read the daily newspaper, the familiar names of my old classmates appeared.

The editor of the paper was Goldie Gregory with Dorothy Atherton as her star reporter.

Headlines screamed that President John Fout had just fired cabinet member, Don Bratschie, for not drinking a quart of milk a day to help the dairy farmer.

Farther down in the column was an article about Helen McFadon and Sandra Smith had just taken a trip around the world and completed their collection of foreign road maps.

I moved from the front page to the Society page where there was a picture of Phyllis Baker who had just married her 7th husband with the Reverend Perry Wharton officiating. Over two columns was a notice that songstress Shirley Wolfgang and her publicity agent, Grace Zimmerman, were preparing a new T. V. show to be produced by Lowell Algire and sponsored by George Dunn and Sidney Hall, the manufacturers of the new .0001 caliber hunting rifle. Linda Bookman and Sandra Hollar had held a charity ball the evening before for the benefit of old worn out street cleaners.

The next page featured a large advertisement by Chuck Leedy and Marion Oyster the co-owners of the largest Oldsmobile dealership in Northern Worthington Township.

In the school news I saw where many of the class of "56" had returned to dear old B. H. S. to work. Dick Kuhn and Tom Gatton had taken over the janitorial duties, Cheryl Workman was teaching 2nd grade, La Donna Wolf, commercial teacher, and Charles Lifer was the new Executive Head.

Down on the sports page was an interview by Tom Llewellyn with John Shaffer, the head football coach at Ohio State University, replacing Woody Hayes. Coach Shaffer said that his team would feature a strong running attack exploiting the fullback, Bruce Larcomb, a hard running sophomore who had just graduated from old B. H. S. two years ago. Bruce was being helped through college by his wife, the former Janice Freeman who was working in the University Hospital.

PROPHECY

In wrestling at the Butler Round Garden, Art Coon and Glenn Pore had defeated Renald Hefflefinger and Steve Creath in a tag team match by hitting them over the head with a ring of frozen sausage.

In the Woman's Interplanetary Golf Match, Judy Barr and Pat Atherton had tied for the championship with a tie score of 235 strokes for 9 holes.

In the seventh game of the World Series, Ernie Cochrane had pitched a no hit, no run game winning his third World Series Game and the Series for the Boston Red Sox by defeating the Pittsburgh Pirates 1-0.

In the court news Pat Craner, the nations leading woman lawyer, had just successfully defended Gwyenna Ogier, who was being charged with eating turnip greens out of season and creating a shortage.

The thing that I saved till last to read was the cartoon, Mr. and Mrs. Ghung Ho, written by the world's two foremost cartoonists, Miriam Forbes and Bonnie Hildenbrand.

Just then the door bell rang and I got up to pay the paper boy, Dave Hathaway, who has been delivering my paper for the last 15 years.

This prophetical document has been prepared and written by the owner of the crystal ball which resides on East Bulldog Avenue, Madam Sing Te Yung, who hears all, sees all, knows all and tells all. Leave your five dollars on the table as you leave the tent.
